What is a contributor?

We need more of us to participate!

Sample statistics
from

Drupal project*

- Downloaded software (99.63%)
- Registered an account (0.32%)
- Did something with their account (0.05%)

* Actual percentage is much lower; I had to do unholy things to numbers to get even a sliver of pie to show up.

Last updated September 3, 2012.

Members of the Drupal community write and edit all sorts of Drupal documentation:

- Community Documentation pages on Drupal.org
- Programming API reference on api.drupal.org
- Communication and marketing pages on Drupal.org
- Help pages within the core Drupal software
- Documentation embedded in and distributed with contributed modules and themes
- The Curated Documentation that we hope to add to the Drupal Documentation family sometime soon (see <http://drupal.org/node/1291058> for more information).
- Externally-hosted documentation (blog posts, etc.), some of which gets posted to Planet Drupal

You can be part of this effort! Anyone who writes documentation distributed through Drupal.org sites is automatically part of the Drupal Documentation Team! In the process of writing and reviewing documentation, you will:

- Learn more about Drupal
- Share your knowledge with other Drupalists
- Gain experience in technical writing and editing, with friendly mentoring
- Build your reputation—your help will be valued by the entire Drupal open-source
